

Tender Success: Evaluation of the first Dhelk Dja 3-Year Action Plan (2019-2022)

We are thrilled to announce that Karabena Consulting has emerged as the successful tenderer for the evaluation of the first Dhelk Dja 3-Year Action Plan (2019-2022).

Our rich history and expertise as an Aboriginal service provider make us an ideal partner to evaluate this significant initiative by the Department of Families, Fairness, and Housing (DFFH).

Please keep an eye on our social media handles as we will be sharing updates about our community consultations and key project milestones. We are committed to enhancing data sovereignty, Aboriginal defined measures of success and outcomes while working diligently to deliver on the agreement.

Read more

Updates on Life at Karabena

It is a time of significant change for the Karabena team. Read more about what we've been up to lately and follow our socials to keep up to date with our progress.

Moving to the Four-Day Work Week

At Karabena we are proud to be part of the Four-Day Work Week trial. By acknowledging history, empowering the workforce, and embracing innovation, we strive for a better, more equitable workplace where productivity and well-being go hand in hand.

Read more

Our new office

We are so excited that our new office in Sunbury is nearly finished and ready to go! We have loved our time in our last office, but as we grow as a business we can't wait to see what this new office space will bring.

Read more

Welcome Sara

A big welcome to our newest Senior Consultant Associate, Sara Alden! A descendant of Stolen Generation Sara brings a wealth of knowledge about resilience and change.

She is passionate about research that ensures individual and systemic needs of all marginalised groups are acknowledged, and have their voices heard, while focusing on connection, change and community.

Currently completing degrees in Laws and Sociology majoring in Gender, Sara offers exceptional interpersonal and negotiation skills with the ability to identify opportunities, develop policies and frameworks, and provide robust solutions to support service provision. A proud Aboriginal woman, she brings a diverse set of skills from within the public sector and community service roles. Utilizing trauma informed policies and fostering equality, as well as conflict resolution and mediation in corporate spaces, Sara is dedicated to maintaining global awareness to First Nations and gender issues within complex changing social and cultural contexts.

As single mother, Sara spends her spare time studying and sleeping. She enjoys archery, yoga, and has a rescue snow lynx Bengal cat. She is focused on family and maintaining social connections for personal wellbeing.

Connect with us on social media

